- Research and tools for detecting deviant online behaviour from the LOCARD project
- Mainly focused on NLP
- Results

- NLP methods have made huge steps forward and present very good results when handling large chunks of data
- What happens with short messages?

- When we exchange messages, is it always verbal?

- We collected a large dataset from online chats where grooming was performed and synthesized a filter to detect such behaviours
- Dataset available for researchers and LEAs:
<https://zenodo.org/record/3560365>
- Analysis and results:

A predator is a person who asks kids to undress in front of the camera

And his bio said he likes meeting young girls

Block foot fetish creep
